DELA. STATE FAIR

Coming Event to be The Biggest in History of Association

NUMEROUS NEW ATTRACTIONS

The Delaware State Fair, which opens at Elsmere on Labor Day, September 4th, and continues for five days until and including September 8th, will bring together the greatest display of agricultural exhibits, live stock, etc., ever witnessed in this State.

Planning for this year from the close of last year's exhibit, the directors have added many new departments. The big outstanding addition is the National Hereford Breeders' Show, which will be seen in Delaware for the first time.

The National Hereford Show has been held at other places in the East but not within hundreds of miles of this state. Because it is the first Hereford Show in Delaware, the officials of the Association are bending every effort to make it the best yet held. Then again, because the raising of beef cattle has become an absolute necessity, every attention will be paid to visitors, in the hope of interesting them in the raising of this breed of cattle on the farms of Delaware, and the Eastern Shore.

The finest Hereford cattle will be shown here, the National Hereford officials promise. In addition there will be several carloads of what is known as "feeder" stock, which will be for sale to those who wish to try raising Herefords. There will be an opportunity on every day of the Fair to examine the cattle which will be placed in pens and corrals on the Fair grounds, located so that thousands may view them at the same time. Each day there will be judging of classes of Herefords to assign the prizes. Judges from the Pacific Coast will be brought to Delaware to judge the exhibit, because it being a national affair with cattle breeders of several western states participating, there will be keenest rivalry for the honors in each class. Usually such a display is shown separately and under a regular admission, but this year it will all go with the Fair, and its other attractions, under the one admission.

The horse show, which last year was the best ever held here, promises to be equally as attractive and as elaborate this year. The finest specimens of horses in many states heretofore will be brought to Elsmere for the exhibition. Then there will be the vegetable and fruit exhibits. There is every reason to believe that with the bountiful crops being raised in the east this summer, that the fruit and vegetable and produce displays will be larger and more diversified than ever before. Hundreds of farmers have arranged to compete for prizes.

Efforts are now underway to bring sheep and swine to the show this Fall that will make this department stronger than it has ever been. The poultry and pigeon and pet stock displays all indicate hundreds of entries, and among the scores of Boys and Girls Clubs of Delaware the contests promise keen rivalry.

The judging of cattle and products by the boys and girls is another feature of the Fair which is becoming more interesting each year. In addition to the preserving and canning and needlework contests for the women and children and the baking, for which special premiums are offered, there will be displays of the various civic and social agencies of Delaware. There will be horse racing every day except Friday, when thrilling automobile races will occur, which will provide good sport. In addition there will be the usual side show features, band concerts, athletic meets, etc. The Fair Management promises a greater fair this year in every way.

An Old-Fashioned Box Social

Everybody out! Where? In the Community Building at Cecilton, Md., on Friday evening, July 28th, at eight o'clock, the Camp Fire girls will give an old-fashioned box social. Everybody bring a box. Who? The young people? Oh, no, everyone will be young on that evening. The ladies and girls are requested to bring "goodies" for the young men to buy. Each girl puts her name on a slip inside of her box. That's easy now, isn't it? Sure—everyone will help these Camp Fire girls in their endeavor to raise some money. The Cecilton Community Orchestra will furnish music to enliven the evening. Ice cream will be for sale.

We invite you to our Sabbath and Mid-week services. Our worship is plain, direct and inspiring. We aim to worship God in spirit and in truth. We study God's word as a divine revelation, given to us for our spiritual nourishment and growth in grace. You—too, may feed your soul upon this spiritual food. The Bible is God's special revelation to all mankind; it is yours as well as ours. Why should you starve your soul when there is spiritual food for the taking? There are three possibilities in respect to your spiritual life: It may be properly nourished and in a healthy condition because you are feeding it upon spiritual food specially prepared in heaven and fitted for the needs of your soul. It may be under-nourished and in a weakened condition subject to disease on every side, because you have been trying to substitute here and there an earthly diet taken from the garden of materialistic thinking. Finally, it may be almost dead, because you have neglected to feed it on anything. You have treated yourself as a mere animal. It is time to look into the condition of your soul's health and begin at once a proper treatment suited to its condition. We seek to serve you in any way we can. The purpose of our church is to glorify God by ministering to those created in his image.

Bethesda Sunday School Picnic

The annual picnic of Bethesda M. E. Sunday School was held at Augustine Beach on Tuesday, when about 150 scholars, teachers and friends of the school journeyed to this popular resort for a pleasant day's outing. Automobiles and large trucks conveyed the pleasure seekers to the beach and a very enjoyable day was spent in bathing, boating and enjoying the other popular attractions at the park. Ice cream and other refreshments were served to the scholars and those that accompanied them on the picnic.

9,000 Attended Camp

The annual camp of Trinity A. M. E. Church is now in progress, and last Sunday was what is known as "Big Sunday." This occasion is one of the big events for the colored people of this section and the attendance this year was by far the largest in the history of the church. The crowd was estimated to be about 9,000, while 4,108 paid admissions were received at the gate. Good order prevailed throughout the day, and the weather was ideal for an out-door meeting.

IN THIS AND NEARBY POINTS

The Dog Days began Saturday.

Last Saturday was St. Swithin's Day. According to the old saying, we are in for a long dry spell, as no rain fell that day.

A slight fire occurred at the home of M. Berg on East Main street, at 5.30 o'clock, Tuesday evening, but the flames were extinguished before the firemen arrived.

The Newark Board of Education is at the present time making a list of taxables in connection with the coming bond issue of $165,000. This issue is to be made for the purpose of building a new high school here.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Georges M. E. Church has decided not to hold a monthly meeting during August. The "rainy day" bags were all turned in at the last meeting at the home of Mrs. Clarence Batten.

By the will of the late John Crane, who died last week in a Philadelphia hospital, St. Clement's Episcopal Church, Massey, Md., is left 50 shares of stock of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the Holy Cross Church, Millington, Md., is left the residue of his property. Mr. Crane left an estate valued at over $50,000.

The State Highway Department announces: The year 1922 promises to break all records for rapid road construction in Delaware. Up to July 4, 26 miles of State highway has been completed. This is approximately one-fourth of the year's program and indicates the completion of the work under contract at an earlier date than in any previous year in the history of the department.

While indications are good for a tomato crop in this vicinity, in the lower part of the state and on the Eastern Shore of Maryland the acreage planted is better than fifty percent. While there have been many heavy rainfalls in the past week, the tomatoes seem to have been little affected as the fields in most instances soon drained and there was no hot sun immediately following to scald the fruit now in the making.

The officers of the First Engineers and the Council Members of Delaware City met Wednesday night in regard to the repairing of the road from Clark's Corner to the Canal bridge, in that town, and laid preliminary plans for going ahead with work about September 1st. The road building unit of the First Engineers is now in Long Island N. Y., doing some work and as soon as they return will begin work on the road the material for which will be furnished by the town.

Frederick T. Sutton, St. Georges druggist, has purchased from J. C. Stuckert his office building, at the canal bridge and took possession Monday. He will open an ice cream, soda water, candy and tobacco business. It is Mr. Sutton's intention to begin work at once and remodel the building and enlarge it with the ultimate idea of making a recreation park of the adjoining grounds, which are ideally adapted for such a purpose, as bathing facilities and good fishing would be right at hand.

Wet Weather Prevents Threshing

The continued wet weather during the past week has been a great drawback to our farmers who are engaged in threshing their wheat crop, and many of those who were contemplating threshing out of the field will be compelled to stack, thus adding an additional cost to the production of the crop.

BASE BALL

Hartley proved the fifth straight victim of Middletown here Saturday afternoon 9 to 3. The locals had things easy and led from the beginning with no danger of being headed by the highly touted visitors. Hamilton on the mound for Middletown, allowed but one hit until the seventh when with seven runs to the good he eased up.

INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

As a result of a serious automobile accident, but one which seldom occurs in motor road, Earl Yokum, a well-known young man of Townsend, lies in a serious condition at the home of his grandfather, Thomas Townsend, and several days may be required according to the attending physician, before the full extent of his injuries can be known.

At a late hour on Sunday night while returning home from Smyrna and speeding along at a lively clip, the gears of the machine suddenly locked, causing the machine to turn over twice and the flying glass from the windshield and pieces of the wrecked car, made several wounds on him, one of them being several inches in length on the leg, requiring a dozen stitches to close it. He is also badly bruised and may be hurt internally, but the full extent of his injuries may not be known for several days. For sometime after the accident he lay beneath the wreck, but was finally removed by a passing autoist to be looked after by Dr. J. D. Niles. The loss of blood from the wounds before medical aid could be rendered, made him very weak and delirious and up to noon on Wednesday there was but little if any improvement shown in his condition, but the physician believes he will recover. He was accompanied by James Reynolds, who also was severely injured by the accident, being badly bruised and it was thought that several bones were broken, but his improved condition shows he escaped injuries of this nature. The car was almost a total wreck.

ENDED HER LIFE WITH BULLET

The funeral of Mrs. Martha Welch took place at 1.30 o'clock from her late home, near Golt Station, Md., on Sunday afternoon, and was largely attended. The interment was made in the Townsend M. E. Cemetery.

While despondent on Friday of last week, Mrs. Welch, who was about 25 years of age, and while her husband, Michael Welch, was resting on a bed upstairs, wrote two notes telling of her intention to commit suicide and leaving the notes laying on a stand in the sitting room, secured a rifle which her husband used for hunting purposes, and while lying on a couch in the parlor sent a bullet through her breast, which resulted in her death a few moments later.

Her nine-year-old daughter, who soon realized that her mother had shot herself, hurried upstairs to inform her father who quickly rushed to a neighbor's home to tell of the shooting and to get them to return with him to render any aid that might be possible under the circumstances. When a physician arrived soon afterward, life was found to be extinct, the woman having lived but a few minutes after the shooting. An investigation by the authorities revealed that the despondent woman had deliberately planned to end her life, after having been in a melancholy state of mind for several weeks. It was not thought that her condition was such as to warrant any fear on the part of her relatives and friends of her taking her own life. Mrs. Welch was the youngest daughter of Mrs. Mary Lingo, of New Castle.

The Rev. G. P. Jones, of Townsend, conducted the services, while Lester Daniels had charge of the funeral. Her husband, Michael Welch, and her daughter have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.

BASE BALL SERIES ARRANGED

Final arrangements were completed on Thursday evening for what should prove one of the most interesting events in the base ball circles of lower New Castle County, when the managers of the Middletown and Townsend teams arranged for a five game series, to begin on July 29th.

Each manager submitted a list of 14 players who will take part in the games, and from a glance over the line-ups of the two teams, the result should be some of the fastest base ball ever seen in these parts. The dates for the games follow: Saturday, July 29th, Middletown at Townsend; Saturday, August 5th, Townsend at Middletown; Saturday, August 12th, Middletown at Townsend; Saturday, August 19th, Townsend at Middletown. Should any of the first four games be postponed on account of bad weather, it will be played in the town where it is originally scheduled on the first succeeding clear Saturday. The fifth game was left open and the location will be decided on later.

The line-ups as submitted follow: Middletown—Carson, Hamilton, Watts, pitchers; Nutter, catcher; I. Gibbs, B. Gibbs, Walker, Morrow, Jacobs and Sharp, infielders; Davis, Ellison, Moffett and Vinyard, outfielders.
Townsend—McKee, Bruner, Money, pitchers; Sullivan and Nowell, catchers; Green, Lichenstein, Grant, Ford, Watts and Glenn, infielders; Heller, Wallace and Hoch, outfielders.

With the line-ups above mentioned the base ball fans of this community are assured of five fast games of ball. The admission for the first four games will be: Adults, 35 cents; children, 15 cents; these prices include War Tax.

BIDS FOR THE CANAL

About 5,600,000 Cubic Yards of Earth Will be Excavated

COST WILL BE ABOUT $1,500,000

Call for bids for excavation of 5,600,000 cubic yards of earth from the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal was issued Monday by Colonel Earl I. Brown, U. S. Engineer for the Wilmington District.

The bids will be received up to August 15 at the Engineer's Office, Sixth and King streets, Wilmington, when they will be opened and tabulated.

This excavation is approximately ten times greater than the one now under way at the deep cut section of the canal between the Pennsylvania Railroad bridge and Summit Bridge, where 600,000 cubic yards of earth are being excavated by W. H. Gahegan, Inc., of Brooklyn, N. Y., at a contract price of approximately $220,000.

Estimated cost of removing the 5,600,000 cubic yards, for which bids were called for this week, is expected to range from $1,500,000 to $1,750,000. An allotment of $2,500,000 recently was made for the canal development by the Board of Engineers of the War Department.

The specifications for this work call for the excavation of 5,600,000 cubic yards from the east end at Summit Bridge two miles west. It is proposed to have this work done within a period of two years, Colonel Brown declares.

All earth excavated is being and will be deposited in soil basins, of which there are two. One of these basins, the largest with a capacity of 6,000,000 cubic yards is located inside the Pennsylvania railroad bridge area. The other with a capacity of 2,000,000 is at the far end of the project. It was also pointed out by Colonel Brown, that the natural depressions in the ground as well as the marshes and other wet lands, all requiring filling in, will provide for excellent places for depositing soil.

LUMBER

is the least expensive building material you can buy.

There was a time when it was commonly believed that homes, to be beautiful, must be big and expensive and that only the well-to-do could afford them.

To-day throughout the land, there are being built small, inexpensive homes of wood that bear every mark of charm, distinction and convenience, for it has been found that design and arrangement and not costly materials or huge size, are the real essentials of beauty in home building.

Nine out of every ten of these homes are built of wood because beauty, coziness and hominess are best obtainable by building with good, seasoned lumber and lumber is the least expensive building material you can buy to-day.

Keep in mind the importance of good lumber, the permanence of your home depends upon it. To obtain dependable lumber of uniform high quality in all grades, see us.

LOUISE'S CAR

By ELIZABETH M'NAUGHT

© 1922, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The streets were treacherously icy and the heels on the patent leather pumps of Louise's Sunday and everyday shoes were high. Gingerly, she tripped along, pausing momentarily at the junction of three automobile-infested streets to await an opportunity to gain the other side.

Glaring headlights were to the right of her, more to the left and countless more behind and beyond.

Life had been a struggle for Louise; it still was, yet she realized that her present mode of living in a single furnished room, with housekeeping privileges, was really an upward step. She was at least happy, and—well, what more could one desire?

"For the love of Pete, look out!" roared a hoarse voice, almost in her ear. Something terrible had happened to something and Louise knew she was the something. The girl's mind was quite clear. She knew she was lying in the mud, ignominiously, like a stray cat, and her fur coat was likely ruined; and then it came to her that the kindest, sweetest voice she had ever heard was consoling her and two very willing arms were making frantic efforts to retrieve her befuddled, perhaps dismembered, anatomy from the mud.

"Poor little girl," he was saying, "it was all my fault," and then most sternly, "Let her alone, you; I'll take care of her."

He placed her among the velvet cushions in the large tonneau of his magnificent car and a moment later the girl knew she was being rushed to the hospital. She cast a critical eye over the interior of the car. A hummer, to be sure, she thought, and just her luck, too. Her eyes glanced toward the proud head, yet he was not too proud to drive his own car.

Her charming Sir Gallahad did not desert her as abruptly as she had expected. In fact, he returned to the hospital day after day to inquire about the fractured ankle. He was the quiet, courteous, gentleman.

"They tell me you may go home tomorrow," he announced by way of greeting one morning, "and, honestly, I'm sorry."

"So'm I," replied Louise, and an expression of extreme sadness overshadowed the thin, piquant face, "very, very sorry."

"Sorry? Why?" he asked in surprise.

"Oh, just because—" she hesitated, and he, noticing a very small tear quivering on the black eyelash, made a hasty departure, flinging back buoyantly, "Well, so long. I'll see that you get home safely and comfortably."

That would be the end, thought Louise.

When the girl faced the large machine the following day it seemed even more formidable than her imagination or her memory of it conceived.

Very few words were spoken during the trip, mainly because of the fact that he was without a chauffeur and so was once again forced to drive the car. Louise was glad that he at least was not a parasite. In no time at all he was helping her up the gray stone steps that led to her front door.

Suddenly, almost impulsively, he asked, "Say, would you go to the movies with me some night?"

"Go to the movies?" In amazement.

"Oh, of course, if you don't care for the movies I'll get tickets for symphony, or anywhere you say. I personally like the movies, but it's more or less habit. Having little time to spare, I run in when things get too dull."

"When things get too dull?" she repeated. Then, eagerly, "Please, just what do you do?"

"I'm a taxi driver."

"Well, I'll be jiggered!" In relief, the girl's tired expression changed to repose and she was very sweet and appealing in her natural mood of laughing and crying and talking all in one breath. "And I thought you were rich and educated and oh, ever so wealthy and as far above me as the moon, and now, isn't that a hummer?" she demanded, pointing to the car.

"Hummer nothing! But that's my car and it's as good as any old hummer. I practically made it myself. It boasts parts from every second-hand shop in the city. I can't very well name it unless, perhaps, I might call it Louise."

"Oh, please do," she whispered from the depths of his raccoon shoulder. "Don't think always turn out perfectly grand?"

Men Who Win Success.

Success is always attained by men who will work and build and have an ideal and vision. A fellow who does his own thinking and will not side-step is the man who will arrive. To achieve your ambition, be a good listener, use your eyes, study human nature, learn to think. Thought rules the world, makes men and is the seat of action. Some folks study all their life and at death have learned everything but how to think. Learning without thought is labor lost. Skill is developed in the corner. The desert sands are breed of the prophet. The mountain fastness develops the seer; out of obscurity come our Presidents; from the wilderness come reformers.

The child was given up for dead when she was found lying on a live wire in a puddle of water last June, and then looked upon as a hopeless case for months after being taken to a hospital.

AUTOMATIC BRAKE AND IGNITION CONTROL TO PREVENT ACCIDENTS

The Illustration Shows the Flexibility of Contact and Bow-Shaped Cushioning Protection Afforded Driver and Object Hit.

A new accident preventive for automobiles, which protects car, driver, pedestrian, and the other fellow's car as well, is now being manufactured after two years of experiments with the original patents. It is an automatic brake and ignition control, and its purpose is the minimizing of traffic accidents; the prevention of accidents while cars are parked, and the reduction of injury to cars or to pedestrians when accidents occur at high speeds. The vast majority of automotive accidents, however, occur at speeds below 15 miles an hour. Little short of a miracle can avert disastrous results in accidents when the automobiles are traveling at high speeds, so that the developers of this device have devoted their attention to the production of an attachment which will prevent, and, where impossible to prevent, minimize, the results of collisions and other accidents at lower rates of speed, notably in traffic in cities, in which the majority of automotive accidents occur.

Same Place as Bumper.

The new device is carried in the same place as a bumper, but is not a bumper. It is a simple mechanism consisting of flexible contact bars or cables fastened by goosenecks to the front and to the rear of the car, being equally applicable to passenger cars or to motorbuses. These contact bars, yielding to a pressure of only 15 pounds, make contacts with electrically-wired contact points, in turn connected with a brake and ignition control contained in a small cylinder which rides freely with the brake rod so as not to interfere with the foot or hand braking of the car under ordinary conditions. The slight pressure on the contact bars makes connection in a fraction of a second, setting the brakes, cutting off the ignition and thereby adding compression to the braking force and blowing the horn.

FIND BEST OILS ARE ECONOMICAL

Manufacturers for Years Have Called Attention to Importance of Lubrication.

OWNERS DEPEND ON DEALERS

Inferior Article Decomposes Easily and Forms Large Quantities of Sediment and Carbon Residue—Wear Is Result.

Automobile manufacturers for years have been impressing on motorists the vast importance of correct lubrication for the maintenance of the internal combustion engine. Their stand has been taken from an economical standpoint and in order to insure the long life of the motor.

A recent investigation in the oil market showed that a large percentage of automobile owners do not specify a particular brand when purchasing a lubricating oil, but depend entirely on the judgment and preference of the dealer. This fact makes possible the harmful practice of substitution of an inferior grade at the price of a quality oil.

Educational Campaign.

Feeling that there are definite steps which can be taken to eliminate this fact, the producers have inaugurated an educational advertising campaign by means of which the importance of correct lubrication is taken up step by step in a language which any layman can thoroughly understand.

Lubrication has become recognized as such an important factor that engineers have spent years of intensive research to produce a lubricant which will maintain its body under the extreme heat generated in the motor, which varies from 150 to 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit, and to function properly under every possible condition.

Inferior Oil Wasteful.

It has been found that an inferior lubricating oil very easily decomposes and forms large quantities of sediment and carbon residue which has no lubricating value and is therefore waste material. This sediment and carbon residue crowd out the good oil from the bearings and rapidly moving parts of the machine. Friction and wear result. If the majority of the motorists realized that such conditions can be very largely overcome by using a quality oil at a higher initial cost, a great deal of trouble with most automobiles would be eliminated.

Use Good Petrol.

If you are barnstorming, you may be forced to use low-test gasoline, but it does foul your motor. The power plant will live longer and be more reliable if you keep to the better grade of fuel.

Stop the Squeaks.

A very good means of correcting squeaks in springs is the use of equal parts of heavy lubricating oil and kerosene, same to be applied to spring leaves by means of a spray.

You Auto Know

That the carburetor strainer should be cleaned and drained regularly in order that no dirt can pass into this delicate mechanism, which is, in reality, the "lungs" of the automobile. Trouble with the carburetor is generally due to the presence of some tiny bit of dirt which has passed the strainer and which, like a morsel of food swallowed "the wrong way," interferes with the breathing. Even the smallest particle of foreign matter in the needle valve or the intake valve of the vaporizer will cause the engine to splutter and spit and it is seldom that this trouble can be eradicated until the dirt or dust "has been removed."

Even the straining of gasoline through wire gauze or a piece of chamol does not do away with the danger from fouling the carburetor, for a considerable amount of sediment always accumulates in the gasoline tank, and this will be carried forward to the carburetor. For this reason, the strainer itself should be drained off regularly and then thoroughly cleaned, in order to insure the proper function of the "lungs of the car."

tion and wear result. If the majority of the motorists realized that such conditions can be very largely overcome by using a quality oil at a higher initial cost, a great deal of trouble with most automobiles would be eliminated.

AUTOMOBILE GOSSIP

A new owner of an automobile, when searching for trouble, often creates more than he finds.

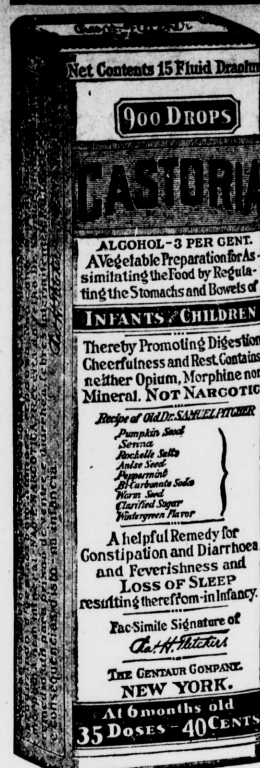

A carburetor should not be adjusted until the engine is run until it has attained the heat it would normally develop on the road.

Go over the electrical system and see that all loose wires are fastened and loose connections attended to. Test the battery and, if necessary, have it recharged to capacity.

To keep the rubber soft and pliable, tires and inner tubes that are stored should be placed in warm water at least once a month.

Gasoline of low gravity contains more heat units than that of high gravity, but is more apt to deposit carbon.

Before starting the engine, occasionally open the drain at the bottom of the carburetor. Water or any foreign matter will be drawn off and possible trouble averted.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

HAPPY IN THEIR IGNORANCE

Tribe of South American Indians Don't Know Meaning of the Words "Worry" or "Care."

No one with authority, no apparent government, no ceremonies, no religion, a carefree people, always smiling, jolly, with nothing to be jolly about. These are some of the main characteristics of a newly discovered pygmy race of naked red-skinned South American Indians, 4 feet high, who inhabit the mountain border of Colombia and Venezuela.

Details of this strange tribe are given in the World's Work by George P. Busch, who, with a party of oil prospectors, were the first white men—with the exception of a Spanish padre—ever seen by the tribe.

Of the world outside they know nothing and have no curiosity. The bow and arrow is their only weapon, carried by the men wherever they go, because they never go anywhere except to get food. Wading into the water, they wait for a fish to hover near, like a flash; they pierce it with an arrow.

No Artists Wanted.

Throughout Old Lyme and Hamburg, Conn., you are welcome to wander over farm property—unless you are an artist. Signs everywhere forbid artists to trespass; the reason given is that many cows have been poisoned by paint-incrusted rags thrown away by the colorists.—Scientific American.

Longevity and Stature. Some person with a statistical turn of mind ought to collect figures on the relative longevity of giants and dwarfs.

So far as lay observation goes, the advantage is distinctly on the side of midgets. "Major" Louis Davis, 37 inches high, died the other day at the age of eighty-one years. Memory fails to recall any seven-foot prodigy who attained equal length of years. If such there have been, let their biographers come forward with the data.

Why buy many bottles of other Vermin-fuges, when one bottle of Dr. Peery's "Dead Shot" will act surely and promptly? It costs only 50 cents and if it fails we refund your money. 312 Pearl St., New York City.—Advertisement.

ASYLUM SEEMED A REFUGE

Vienna Man No Doubt Concluded That Either He or Rest of the World Was Insane.

An Austrian who had fallen suddenly insane in 1913, and spent his time in an asylum near Vienna, oblivious to the war and the revolution, was discharged the other day as cured. In his joy over his new freedom he did what most of the older Austrians would have done: he entered a cab and had himself driven to the Prater. Arrived there he dismounted and asked what fare he had to pay.

"Eighteen thousand kronen," the driver demanded. The cured man grew pale. "My dear man," he said, trembling, "this is terrible. I never foresaw that, and I have only a 20-kronen piece with me."

The driver looked at the gold coin and replied rudely: "Well, what would you have? You get 18,000 kronen in change?"

The cured man was nonplussed. "Please," he said softly, "take the other 18,000 kronen and drive me back to the asylum."

The Foxtrot Foot.

The influence of the foxtrot on the appearance of women's feet is more noticeable every day, even with the gradually lengthening skirt. Anyone who has an eye for a neat ankle has seen that the younger women are walking as if about to dance. They put their feet down with the sliding motion of the favorite step, and have lost the tapping movement that was the smart walk in quick waltz days. Feet seem to have lengthened and grown more pointed to suit the new dances.—Exchange.

From Despised "Whiteseed" Visitor's Flowers Advanced to Dignity of "Lovely Marguerites."

One morning a summer resident started from Coolbeigh with a bunch of flowers in her hand. "Going to tote that whiteseed into the city?" inquired the man who drove her to the station, with evident scorn. "Yes," said the young woman, quite unmoved by his opinion.

On the train she was joined by another young woman, who had formerly lived in the city, but had married a Coolbeigh man a few years before. "Those are pretty daisies you have," she said admiringly.

"Yes, I think they are," said the summer visitor, smiling to herself. An hour later she handed the flowers to a friend in a busy city office. "Oh, what lovely marguerites," cried the recipient.—Exchange.
